THE CAROLINA SPARTAI

BY CAVIS & TRIMMIER

Devoted to Southern Rights, Politics, Agriculture, and Miscellany.

$2 PER ANNUM

VOL. XIV.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1857.

tion to him, but kept on, until suddenly a

The Manufacture of Words.

tracted from a clever paper in Fraser's coinages, when every breeches maker or word of six syllables as expressive of his back as aforetime-they take equestion grand-mothers -- they are lead to the hymenial altar. A books Her, forsooth, becomes a manciple. Barbers do not sell tooth-powder and shaving soap, as their fathers did,

but odonto, and dentifrice, and rypophapillary fluid; can any one tell us what is the Medical gentlemen, too, talk of phlebotomy;

blood letting, and, for our own part, we always associate the term with a night we in an Irish hotel. Who would believe that

The following sensible remarks are ex-

NO. 36.

our friends to reach customers.

Job work of all kinds promptly executed.

Blanks, Law and Equity, continually on ha

CAROLINA SPARTAN.

From "Porter's Spirit."

A Deer-Hunt in the Palmetto State.

The authored monarch of the waste, Eprang from his heathery couch in haste.

A moment listened to the cry, That thickened as the chase drew nigh; Then, as the headmost focs appeared, With one brave bound the copse he cleared

It was on a bright and cloudless October morning, in 185-, that I found myself pacing easily along the State road in the apper portion of Charleston District-my Westley Richards thrown carelessly across the saddle-bow -a wallet of "vivers" tied to the crupper, and a tickler of old Bourbon distending my breast-pocket. Pet, my tough little tackey, was lazily switching away the gnats, against which my face was protected by an atmosphere of real of Hava na; and Bounder, Killbuck, and old Nell, whose tongues had swelled the chorus of a hundred chases, and howled the requiem of many a gallant buck, were trotting along beside me. The sun was warm, though tempered by a pleasant breeze, for the frost had not yet given to the planters its bond of security against the malaria, nor sweetened the yellow clusters of persimmons which decked the road-side, and the autumn winds had scarcely commenced to despoil of their leaves the moss-covered patriarchs of the forest. As I came in sight of the "White Bridge," our well known casional dip of a solitary kingfisher, and all nature seemed at rest, except the eves of the little grav squirrel, who peered at me from the moss of an old oak, as he drew his body cautiously behind the limb to my own born, and anamied blast which enade the old woods ring again, and in a moment more Tom Chifton's pack dashed enan, with the black mustache and hand seasons have passed over his head, and for thirteen of them he has been a hunter. That dare devil chap, with the crooked nose and nut! He can ride a thunderbolt bare-backed, or break the Wild Huntsman's demonface like the king of good fellows, is Dr. Morton, who now and then steals a day from his extensive practice to enjoy the sport of which he is so fond, and in the skilful pursuit of which he has no superior, and hide her diminished head." not many equals. The two other figures and all ready for a start. "Hallo, Jeems, said I, missing Col. Dickson's honest face, "where's your master?" "Maussa say him will wait for you up to

"What do think of it Jeems?"

"I spec you better tek dat for the fust dare last night; I see all he track gwine in, stretched out at ease, and preparing to an' I nebber see none come out; so I 'spec gratify the wants of the inner man. he lay in de saplin' field now."

aryon and John go head the drive; we'll horn by fitting a stopper to the small end give you plenty of time before we take up of it, "who's got a fogram?"

Popping their whips, and calling the dogs, the boys set off at a round pace for the head of the drive, while we turned our horses, and proceeded slowly towards the "Kit," said Tom, as we were about to start, we've got plenty of time; let's ride a piece up the bank and kill that old 'gator."* "Gator!" responded Kit, incredulously. What do you mean? Who ever heard of seeing a 'gator in October?"

"Why, I have! there is an old fellow up the bank nine feet long, if he's an inch!" "Fool who!" was the skeptical response. "Got a mocking-bird's nest some where, ain't you?"

"You may laugh as you please; but old scales never goes into winter quarters before hard frost; and I've seen him out some hot days in December." "Well, may-be so; but we'd better not go now, for if we shoot, it will scare the buck,

BY CAVIS & TRIMMIER.

T. O. P. VERNON Associate Editor.

Pries Two Dollars per annum in advance, or $2.50 at the end of the year. If not paid until after the year expires $3.00.

Payment will be considered in advance it made within three months.

No subscription taken for less than six months.

No subscription taken for less than six months.

Money may be remitted through postemasters at our risk.

Advertisements inserted at the usual rates, and contracts made on reasonable terms.

The Sparan circulates largely over this and aligning districts, and offers an admirable medium to our friends to reach customers.

The Sparan circulates largely over this and aligning districts, and offers an admirable medium to our friends to reach customers.

The sparan circulates largely over this and aligning districts, and offers an admirable medium to our friends to reach customers. dogs; but I heard no sound, except the distant shouts of the boys, as they rode about beating cover and cheering the dogs to hunt. Suddenly, three or four quick yelps, and our version of the legend; and as you had our version of the legend; and as you gun at dat deer, you sure to be dead may never have heard it before, I'll preface in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week!' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention to the legend in less than tree week.'' I paid no attention t followed by a berst of music, brought me my adventure with the tale. to a stand; but, alas for the futility of human expectations! above the clamor of the longer—when the Catawba tribe of Indians me look around. I was within twenty in angry tones: "Come back, yah! you good-for-nuttin',

"Confound the puppy," muttered I, as I turned to resume my walk; but ere I had throat, as he howls out his excitement, and only trailing. Excitement was beginning to give way to bitter disappointment-for I was now sure the buck must have sneaked fectly motionless, and he was too much occupied with the clamer behind him to ob- to the enemies of the tribe. which he cang. Finding myself first at the meet, I dismounted, litched Pet to a rail, and throwing myself at full length on buck bungled for a few yards, fell, recover-Bounder prick up his ears, and Pet turned gash, my buck had slipped off unperceived, and up the road, and as my own dogs, with a in the confusion of his terror, had become how of welcome, bounded forward to meet separated from his companion-probably them, five horsemen cantered up to the an old doe. I leaned on my gun and liscame the sound of the Doctor's barrels, and some face, is Tom Clifton. Twenty-three ing, I heard three notes of a horn-the well known signal of "meat in the pot." I wicked looking eye, is Kit Gillam. Do you foot of a blasted oak, I mounted Pet and notice how awkwardly he sits his fiery ches- role for the rest of the party. Upon arri-

"Isn't she a beauty, Bob!" asked the Doctor, as I rode up.

"Pretty good, Doc.; but I'll show you a pair of horns, by and by, will make her

John was soon despatched to press some are our negro drivers: Tom Chiton's John, trash or shingle cart into service to carry with rage and sorrow, and his brother, the nosel Fancy one schoolboy doubling his the "yellow nigger" with the mustache, and home the deer; and taking "Daddy Jeems" Col. Dickson's driver, "Daddy Jeems." Our (so christened by Kit Gillam, though not salutations over, I was soon on my mare, over eighteen years old,) we proceeded to take the next drive; but the does went through it without once opening. Nor was our succeeding effort more successful; for though the dogs trailed about for nearly an Peacock ole field; an' he tink you better hour, they finally left the drive without agreed to defer the rest of the hunt until afternoon. So, seeking a shady nook near dribe, sir; one debbil ob a buck been in a small but limpid stream, we were soon

"Very well, Jeems," chimed in Tom, engaged in making a drinking cup of his "Hallo!" cried Kit, who had been busily

My mouth being just then "too full for utterance," I silently handed him my flask. ing in her heart. He sprang forward to se- Mobile, was on a visit to Look Out Moun- are behind a curtain. And do you take men, here's to General Jackson!" and he tossed off a bumper of the pure stuff. "Kit," mumbled Tom, through his busy jaws, "you never told us how your nose

"Confound you," was the gruff rejoinder, "I've told you a dozen times-I fell down and stepped on it."

"When?" "When I was so years old."

Satisfied with this circumstantial account of the accident, we all relapsed into silence, and for a few moments nothing was heard but the crunching of our molars, while the boys' chances for a dinner off the reiles grew "beautifully less."

brick church."

the ashes from his segar, "you've almost

"Colonel," said I, at length, tossing away the used up drumstick of a cold chicken, 'give us that long-promised varn about your adventure with the "Spirit Doe of St. farce after the tragedy."

THE CAROLINA SPARTAN. and once started, he won't stop this side of the Colonel's story."

"Oh, yes!" cried all the others, "let's have the Colonel. "It's a short story, boys, and soon told," the Colonel's story."

"It's a short story, boys, and soon told," rejoined the Colonel. "I was out fire hunt-dogs, came the crack of a whip, and Jeem's hunted over the northwest portion of our voice, mellowed by the distance, was heard State, there was among them a beautiful directly under it, were visible a pair of eyes, young girl, daughter of the head chief of reflecting the flicker of the burning pine-"Come back, yah! you good-for-nuttin, the nation, who was known among the cussed, little rabbit-dog, you! I sway maussa hab for shoot da puppy, fore he Bounding Fawn. Her black and lustrous but a strange feeling came over me, as I eyes were more terrible to the Catawba looked at the eyes. Could the story be warriors than the watch fires of a hostile true? Was there really a 'spirit deer.' Just war-party; and many a warrior, who puffed then the torch shot up a tongue of flame taken a single step, my attention was rive- his calumet in stoical indifference when the which, for an instant, illumined the tree. I is there in that silvery cry that sends the have given his wealth of horses and warn and, to my amazement, saw that it was blood bounding through every vein, and pum, despite his affected stolidity, if she white! Boys, I have said I was not supersoprano of the one, and the deep double to no purpose; and many a one of the bass of the other, mingling musically with younger warriors walked the war-path what similar dilemma, which, by some un-Bounder's tenor. Nearer and nearer comes alone, in search of some gallant adventure, accountable means, came into my mind at the cry, and still that broken, quavering on which to base his claims—and still O- the moment: 'if that thou be'st a devil, I tongue tells that the buck is still crouching man o-ree remained a maid. Wa hus pa cannot kill thee, I raised my gun and fired. in his bed, vainly hoping that the infernal clamor—for such to his ears must it be— sued for her hand. He was young and had to deal with real flesh and blood; and can see the gleam of old Bounder's snowy fusal, which he felt sure would be his lot if two hundred dollars, if a cent! I gave he dared to ask the War-Eagle for his Quarcoo the careass, on condition he would snuffs up the warm scent, and still they are daughter; for Wa-hus-pa's face had never never breathe a word about the matter, and which screened the entrance of his lodge fire-hunted since!" out of the drive before I reached my stand —when, hark! what a burst! The cry opened at a little gum-thicket, not a hunopened at a little gum-thicket, n dred yards from where I stood. In dashed fallen before his hunting knife in single clouds warned us to be satisfied with our the dogs at one side, and out burst the buck combat. Twice had he despoiled the she sport for the day. So, appointing a day for rendervons, I heard no sound but my at the other. For a single instant, he stood bear of her cubs, and slain her with his axe our next meet, and taking a parting horn all horse's footsteps; the waters of the "raging" at the other. For a single instant, he stood bear of her cubs, and said her with his ago undecided—it was but an instant—and he when she rushed to avenge her loss. The round, we separated, and each of us struck ing antiers laid back upon his outstretched neck, and his white flag streaming in the breeze behind him. I was standing perter would some day become a thunderbolt the bank, proceeded to suck the stump of my segar, and watch the graceful motions ground, gave one convulsive shudder, and the price with pride, when she looked on the ground, gave one convulsive shudder, and an osprey, who was circling in the blue the next instant my blade was in his throat. young heave, and saw that they were formsky, far above my head. Suddenly I saw As the warm blood flowed freely from the spotted coat of the beautiful tion and caution; but he is addressing poher head up the canal; and rising to my her head up the canal; and rising to my and take their share. To my anazement, there was not one near and as I raised my head, I caught the canal here. The my anazement, there was not one near and as I raised my head, I caught the cry, as it it bore down toward the canaging host and here.

Was heard the canaging host and here.

Ere the achies had died over Leased from noticing before is that another deer from the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced at the spear-staff, which was planted in from this index in the canal in the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced at the spear-staff, which was planted in from this index in the canal in the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced at the spear-staff, which was planted in from this index in the canal in the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced at the spear-staff, which was planted in from the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced at the spear-staff, which was planted in from the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced at the spear-staff, which was planted in from the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced at the spear-staff, which was planted in from the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced in from the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced in from the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced in from the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced in from the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced in from the blood go bounding to her dusky cheek, when she glanced in fr from noticing before, i. e., that another deer came that daily tribute of fish or venison, had jumped up before the dogs, and while which was faid by some unseen hand at the they followed him off, running by sight, door of the War-Eagle's lodge? And on that bright July morning, when O man o ree was waked from her shady slumber on the bank of the Catawba, by the wellbridge. Reader, allow me to p esent you tened to the receding cry, when bang! bang! with horror at the sight of the hideous repknown dreadful rattle, and stood transfixed exercise; women are not married like the tile, which was preparing to give the fatal all was still. Before I had finished reload- blow, whose nervous arm and unerring eye a bibliopole; and a servant is converted into winged the shaft which pinned the monster raised my horn to my lips, and returned Many asked these questions, but none could to the oak, at whose base he was coiled? the signal; and dragging my quarry to the answer them, till the War-Eagle arose one gon; hair wash has passed away-it is camorning, and called in vain for O man orole for the rest of the party. Upon arriver ree to fill his pipe. "She is bathing with meaning of diagnosis as applicable to diving at the Doctor's stand, I found them the maideus," said the chief; but the maiall sitting on their horses, contemplating the dens had not seen her. Nor was it until a will guarantee to find half-n-dozen Saxon steed to harness. That broad shouldered fat carcass of a fine old doe, which hung whisper reached his ear that Wa hus pa, monosyllables expressive of the same idea. too, was missing, that the truth flashed up on her father's mind. "Then was there we know that it has some connection with mounting in hot haste," and the war-whoop rang through the ancestral pines, as the warriors scoured off in pursuit. But even, once spent between the sheets, all slive () ing brought them back again, with no traces of the fugitives. The old chief foamed "epistaxis" means simply bleeding at the prophet of the tribe, donned his mystic list, and telling another to "look out for robe, and with spells and incantations epistaxis?" What is meant by this fashiona howled out his curse upon the flying pair. ble word "ae-thetics?" We take up the first Meanwhile, Wa hus pa's stout gelding had book within reach, and open it at random borne the lovers gallantly on. Three days It is William Wordsworth, a biography, by and nights, with scarce an interval of rest, brought them to the neighborhood of old read? "By sesthetic biography," he says St. Stephen's church, and here the noble "is simply intended a life in idea; attitudes starting. Tired of this kind of fun, we steed gave out. Weary and faint, the lov. Simply intended! Did ever mortal man is ers agreed to rest here for awhile; and ten to such verbinge ran mad? What, spreading his panther robe beneath a thick. again, are we to understand by these words boughed holly, the young brave placed O "objective" and "subjective," which every man o-ree upon it, and left her to slumber, goose with his sham metaphysics has now a minister called upon Mr. Spurgeon, and while he wandered off in search of some days on his lips! game for a meal. He had not proceeded far, before he came upon a lovely, half- Mule vs. Ram. - A friend some few days Spurgeon: And have you blacks in your grown doe, reposing beneath the shade of since made us laugh "consumedly," by a holly; quick as thought, his shaft was on the string, and the next instant was quiver
"Not long since, our friend B——, of partitions and curtains? Oh, the blacks the string, and the next instant was quivercure his quarry, and before him lay the tain. Georgia, and was much struck with the Lord's Supper with the blacks behind a lifeless form of his bleeding bride! The the fact that a fine jet of water was thrown curtain? Oh, yes. Now, sir, do you know curse of the prophet had followed him; the up above the top of the eminence on which spell was upon his senses. He gazed a mother Hotel stands. He knew it was brought sir, I'm a monomaniac—a monomaniac on ment upon the horrid sight; then, tearing from far below, but he was curious to know the subject of slavery. (And Spurgeon the garments from his body and limbs, by what mechanical contrivance. Walk- dashed his hand into his pocket, and bringrushed into the depth of the swamp, a na- ing round the jet admiringly, he accosted - ing out his penknife, opened it.) Yes, sir, ked, howling maniae, and none have seen a in his accustomed polite and rather precise I'm a perfect monomaniae. I've no control trace of Wa hus-pa since. But from that way-a plain countryman, with:

has haunted the holly bush by the old Ran? -meaning, of course, the hydraulic your hypocritical bosom. So I warn you, contrivance so named. "Bravo! Colonel!" cried Tom, knocking

'Ram!' exclaimed the countryman. "I say Ram!"

doleful tones, "we'll give you a werry pa-chetic tehorus, in behalf of this unfortinit And sure e And sure enough, friend Byoung madine and her lover, the young from a different point of view, get a sight of the quadrupedal hybrid working thema- to know, before I go, that they won't hum-

Origin of the Sub-Treasury.

The admirable working of the Subcrisis which has occurred since its introduction, has made it important that its author should be known and have the credit due for Every thing now connected with the Sub-Treasury is of peculiar interest-for this new system of financial policy has worked like a charm during the present money crisis over the country. In 1837, when a suspension of banks was general over the whole country, there was hardly a sound spot upon which to stand, while trying to rebuild their shattered institutions. How different is the case now! As the reservoir furnishes a constant supply of pure and ted by another sound -"yow oo-ool" What Bounding Fawn passed near him, would caught a momentary glance at the deer, the country, by pouring out a supply of specie in its legitimate operations, nourish stretches every nerve to its utmost pitch? Reader, that is Bounder's trail note, and with him. But in vain did they aspire to I should, to my dying day, have been a firm stitutions are undergoing a system of purithere's game afoot. Listen, now, for Nell and Killbuck. There they are the soft soprano of the one, and the deep doubles.

Soprano of the one, and the deep doubles.

as for the good of the community.
But with whom did the idea of a Sub-Treasury, now so popular, originate. Some nancial crisis of 1837-others, that it sprang from Col. Benton's hard money doctrine during the time "Benton mint drops" were will sweep past him, as he cowers beneath the brush-wood. Nearer and nearer, till I his spirit could never brook the scornful relay my own imported merino ram, worth think I-can give you the true source whence think I-can give you the true source whence emanated the grand scheme.

In the years of 1833-'34, the Hon, Wm. yet felt the war-paint, and no hostile scalp yet decorated his belt. But the panther-skin should ever tell it—and, boys, I haven't Bill" of the Jackson Administration was un-F. Jordan, then a member of Congress from der consideration in the House of Represen-The Colonel having spun his yarn, we rose tatives, moved to strike out all of the bill

"That from and after the - day of in the year —, the Collectors of every sense of the public revenue at places where the sum collagreat man. lected shall not exceed the sum of --- dolwas off with the speed of light; his spread-old men looked with pride on his athletic a lope for our respective homes. So ended Treasurer to keep and disburse the sums, had obtained a firm and habitual ascendenprescribe for the faithful execution of his of tice, and shall receive, in addition to the compensation now allowed by law, —— per centum on the sums disbursed, so that it does not exceed the sum of - dollars in our day as that of Horace for the manufacture of words. He allows men to mould one now and then, with a modest discre That at places where the amount of public revenue collected shall asseed the same of th revenue collected shall exceed the sum of solid esteem proportioned to it. His person, you know, was fine, his stature exactly in marine stores. Would be not have stood pointed by the President, by and with the what one would wish, his deportment easy, aghast at the term "antigrophylos?" Would advice and consent of the Senate, receivers erect and noble; the best horseman of his of the public revenue, to be Agents of the age, and the most graceful figure that could ton in the first Congress.) who died in 1804. it not puzzle a Scaliger or Bentley? It is Treasurer, who shall give such bond and se- be seen on horse back. Although in the as President of the Court of Appeals, came time, we protest, to put a stop to these vile curity to keep and disburse the public revenue, and be subject to such rules and regu- reserved with safety, he took a free share 1674. "The descendants of the first Penblacking manufacturer invents a compound lations, as the Treasurer may prescribe, and in conversation, his colloquial talents were dleton have intermarried with the Pollards, wares. Ladies do not wear petticoats now-a. Shall receive for their services — per centum not above mediocrity, possessing neither Copiousness of ideas, nor freedom in the P. Gaines is descended from a sister of Indea Paralleton Lewises Pages Nelsons. exceed the sum of — dollars per annum. use of words.

SECTION 3. And be it further enacted, In public, wh That from and after the —— day of —— he was anready, short and embarrassed, the whole revenue of the United States, de-Yet he wrote readily, rather diffusely, in an rived from customs, lands, or otherwise, shall be paid in the current coins of the United

On the question, "shall the bill be so

Sub-Treasury men, in favor of divorcing Bank and State, were; John Quincy Adams, Mass.; Heman Allen, Vt.; John J. Aler, Va.; Noves Barber, Conn.; James M. Williams, N. C; Henry A. Wise, Va.

said, in the conversation, that he had a congregation in the states of 3,000 people. Exhibition of the American Institute Fair, congregation? Jonathan: Oh, ves. And hour, the White Spirit Doe of St. Stephen's 'My friend, is this water forced up by a minutes longer, I may put this knife into over myself, sir; and if you stay here ten Be off! be off! I feel it rising in me. Be off, I say! (And he hustled Jonathan to the door, nervously handling his knife all he related the story. "Why, no," said he, vens live to the age of seven or eight hun-"perhaps not quite that; but I'm going to dred years." America before long, and I wanted them

Jefferson's Portrait of Washington.

The subjoined sketch of the life, character and services of General Washington, is Treasury scheme, under the first monetary from the pen of Mr. Jefferson, and is to be dated at Monticello, January 2d, 1814. ! is a powerfully drawn picture, and being entirely free from fulsome panegyric, or at so wise a measure. The following, from the tempt at exaggeration, we commend it to Washington correspondent of the Charles- the careful attention of our readers, as em ton Standard, shows to whom this honor bodying in a short space all that need be belongs, and among the names of its few said of that great and good man. It is early defenders and friends we are pleased for which its illustrious author was so re written in the concise and vigorous style to note the name of Hon. Francis W. Pick- markable, and is worthy of being treasured ens, the prominent candidate for the United States Senate, as successor to Judge Butler:

In the memory of every admirer of the "Father of his country." or the immortal writer and signer of the Declaration of In-

I think I knew General Washington in timately and thoroughly; and were I called on to delineate his character, it should be in

His mind was great and powerful, without being of the very first order; his pene-tration strong, though not so acute as that of a Newton, Bacon or Locke; and, as far as he saw, no judgment was ever so nder. It was slow in operation, being little aid ed by invention or imagination, but sure in

Hence the common remark of his officers. the advantage he derived from councils of war, where, hearing all suggestions, he selected whatever was best, and certainly no general ever planned his battles more judiciously. But if deranged during the course of the action, if any member of his plan was distracted by certain circumstances, he was slow in a rejustment. The consequence was that he often failed in the sequence was that he often raised in the field, and rarely against an enemy in station, as at Boston or at New York. He was incapable of fear, meeting personal dangers with the calmest uncon ern.

Perhaps the strongest feature in his char acter was prudence, never acting until every circumstance, every consideration, was maturely weighed; refraining if he saw a doubt, but when once decided, going through with his purpose, whatever obstacles opposed. His integrity was most pure. his justice the most inflexible I have ever known; no motives of interest or consunguinity, of friendship or hatred, being able to bias his decision. He, was indeed, in every sense of the word, a wise, a good, and and be subject to such rules and regulations, cy over it. If ever, however, it broke its bonds, he was most tremendous in his

> In his expenses he was honorable, but ex act; liberal in contributions to whatever ng on all visionary projects, and all uneasy and correct style. This he had ac Virginia and elsewhere," quired by conversation with the world, for his education was merely reading, writing, and common arithmetic, to which he added became necessarily extensive, and, with journalizing his agricultural proceedings. Ity, the mother of "Light-horse Harry"-occupied most of his leisure hours in doors. General Henry Lee; also to Miss Cary, of On the whole, his character was in its mass, len, Va.; Chilton Allea, Ky; Wm. S. Ar. perfect—in nothing bad; in few points in. permission to address his daughter." Beale, Va.; Martin Beaty, Ky.; Robert never did nature and fortune combine more the proud Col. Cary, "I wish you to leave Campbell, S. C.; N. H. Chiborne, Va.; perfectly to make a man great, and place the house, for my daughter has been accus-Wm. Clarke, Pa; Ang. H. Clayton, Ga; him in the same constellation with whatey. tomed to ride in her own coach." Amos Davis, Ky.; Thomas Deavenport, Va.; er worthies have merited from man an daughter of Col. William Faunt Le Roy (of Edmund Deberry, N. C.; Thos. F Foster, er worthes have merited from man an one of the most ancient families of VirginGa; Roger L. Gamble, Va.; James II. singular destiny and merit of feading the arin, and probably brother to the grandmoson, Va; Wm. F. Gordon, Va; John mies of his country through an ardnors ther of the first Col. John Taylor) had a Griffin, North Carolina; Jas. P. Heath, war, for establishment of its independence, 1; Rolet. P. Letcher, Va.; Dixon H. Lew- of conducting its councils through the birth Ala; H. C. Martindale, N. Y.; Wm. of a government, new in its forms and prin-Comas, Va.; Francis W. Pickens, S. C.; of a government, new in Comas, Va.; Francis W. Pickens, S. C.; ciples, until it had settled down into a quiet on Robertson, Va.; David Spangler, and orderly train; and of scrapulously Ohio; John N. Stee'e, Md.; Wm. P. Tay obeying the laws through the whole of his his formal address to Miss Phillips. Their Va.; Richard H. Wilde, Ga.; Lewis career, civil and military; of which the history of the world furnishes to other exam-ple. I felt on his death, with my countrymen, that "verily a great man hath this day fallen in Israel."

Mr. Wood, of Hartford, exhibited for the first time a remarkable but simple contrivance for making of bricks and downing tiles. Ing to the last Patent Oillee report, the an-The clay is in a large open box or hopper, inside of which is a revolving wheel with knives, shaped like the letter S. By means dollars; of manufactures six hundred milof this wheel, which has a double action, hone; of mines three hundred millions, forand may be worked either by hand, horse, ests one hundred millions; of navigation or steam power, the clay is chipped up and and fisheries one hundred millions, of mekneaded, the separation of stones and other chanical trades and professions four hunextraneous substances is effected, and the | dred millions; making the total annual valclay is then forced into moulds by a great us of the domestic products of the United pressure, and delivered on each side of the States thirty-five hundred millions of dolmachine, ready to be dried.

ville, New York, having purchased a raten, manipulation, before an article reaches the one of her neighbors asked her why she consumer, the annual aggregate of the the door, nervously handling his knife all thought of buying such an ugly and use transactions, between transactions and transactions are transactions. brought tears to my eyes."

'No, siz. It's a dern big MULE, and hard the while.) "And did you really mean to less bird. "My husband and I," said she, United States, would among wished to try the experiment whether ra- sand millions of dollars.

Dodging a Constable.

Asheville must be a great place during court, as will be seen in the following from

Nearly all the lawyers on the Circuit are ere, and a tremendous crowd of outsiders -speculators, itinerant merchants, gentlemen of leisure, Jews, Gentiles, and the Ginhabitants of the hill country round about." Money! money!! is the cry heard on all sides. Several sad cases have occurred under our own observation. Take one for a sample. A long legged constable held an ugly document beginning, "You are hereby commanded to take the body of," &c. against an unfortunate individual. The conable had trailed him all day, but for reas sone satisfactory to himself, no doubt, the debtor dodged him. Several times the legal pursuer thought he had his victim safe, out like Patrick's flee, when he put his finger on him "he wern't thar." Finally losing all patience, constable determined, like Capt. Botts, to "head him or die." eyes peeled, every muscle sprung, and des termination to conquer or die written on his face, he again started in pursuit. Round the Court House, among the cake wagons, through the crowd, along Liquid Row, in cumgunjulow" doubling the square again, until finally law triumphed! Debtor caved. wind broken and sore footed, he surrendered gracefully, reposing his weary limbs up. on an empty goods box. Constable drew his "weapons," figured out the "prin.," "int.," and with a benevolent smile handed it over for the inspection of his victim. Debtor looked at it, and in a bland tone said, "all right," proceeding at the same time to draw amount. Constable sat by, a broad grin of satisfaction and good nature overspreading his countenance. Through with the operation, debtor handed pile over to constade, who in turn proceeded to ascertain that ill was right. A sudden pallor overspread ais features as he turned over the bills and is eve rested upon "Ococe," "Bank of Jefhis eye rested upon "Ococe, Bank," &c. Gasping fersou," "Exchange Bank," &c. Gasping "No for breath, he hurriedly exclaimed, money but this?" "Nary red!" solemnly replied debtor. It was too much. Human nature could not stand it. Constable's countenance relaxed, his jaw fell, his knees smote together, and tottering for a moment, he fell headlong. The last words he uttered, as a bystander knelt over him, were, "Wild Cat, by thunder!" Should he not recover, the verdict of the jury of inquest will be—"Died of Tennessee money."

late volume by Bishop Meade, of Virginia, on "The old Families and Churches of Virpromised utility, but frowning and unyield- ginia," is one of the most interesting and valuable of recent contributions to ton, (the friend and colleague of Washing-Judge Pendleton,) Lewises, Pages, Nelsons, In public, when called on for his opinions, Harts, Richards, Taliaferros, Turners, Shepherds, Carters, Kemps, Palmers, Dandridges, Cooks"-"thousands throughout

Washington.—There are some few anecdotes furnished by Bishop Meade that have amended" it was decided in the negative:
Ayes 33, nays 161.

Those who voted in the affirmative, and who stand recorded on the pages of our national history as the thirty-three original became necessarily examined and English history. His correspondence became necessarily examined and beauty: and Mission of Bradshaw, in Middlesex Countries of Bradshaw, not appeared in Gen. Washington's biogra-Grymes, of Bradshaw, in Middlesex Counwhose father "Young Washington asked different; and it may truly be said, that that is your business here, sir," responded "daughter, Elizabeth, who became wife of Mr. Adams, of James River, after having refused the hand of Gen. George Washing-ton." A sense of duty called the youthful Washington to the field before he had made renewal was prevented by her engagement to his friend apt. Morris. But for this cirumstance the General's lot might have been different.

Bi-hop Meade bears testimony to Gen. BRICK-MAKING MACHINE.—At the late that he was a zeslous church man and humble communicant.

TRADE OF THE UNITED STATES .- Accordanal value of products of agriculture in the United States was two thousand millions of lars. If we add to the above the annual foreign imports, three hundred and sixty A lady belonging to the "ton" in Sempi- millions, and estimate a three hundred fold

"Somehow or other," said Frederick the "Hush! you heathen! and let us hear the chinery, and agreed that it was pretty hard arce after the tragedy."

of the quadrupedal hybrid working thems. To know, before I go, that they won't always notice I," and agreed that it was pretty hard bug me about slavery."—Gateshead Obske first looks at your dress, and then always notice I," said Nopoleon, "that Provi-Great, "Providence seems to do the most